

The new word in event design is orglamic—an artful array of earthy, organic naturals with indulgently glamorous highlights

Spring

by
ALL THE FLUTTER

FLORAL AND EVENT designer Chesney Schmidt worked with modern “ghost” chairs, luxe gold accents, and a talented local artist to create a supernatural setting that is both organic and glamorous—orglamic, she calls it. Seattle-made “garden pops” (easily plantable herb seeds packed in rich soil and nicely wrapped for guests); Celeste Cooning’s dreamy, meticulous cut-paper flourishes; individual lemon meringue cakes; and an elaborate arrangement of candy-colored tulips, opulent roses, just-blooming magnolia branches, and lots of bright, young greenery yield an environment where a nature-loving bride, a bow-tied groom, and their stylish friends and family can luxuriate. All the Flutter, 206-491-3098, alltheflutter.com

Printed matter Kerri Efendi Designs (360-739-5188, kerriefendi.com) Linens Choice Linens (206-728-7731, choicelinens.com) Chargers and chairs ABC Special Event Rentals (425-493-6969, abcrentals.com) Dessert pedestals Trophy Cupcakes (206-390-0900, trophycupcakes.com) Dessert Cakes by Felicitations (360-317-5961, cakesbyfelicitations.com) Favors Moulton (moultonology.com) Paper décor element Celeste Cooning (celestecooning.com) Flowers, dinnerware, flatware, glassware, and décor elements All the Flutter